FOUR PAGES THIS WEEK

We are compelled this week to issue a four page paper, owing to our weekly supply of ready prints failing to put in an appearance. This was caused by the delay on the main line of the G.T.P., in moving freight. The poor printer man has one trouble or another all the time, and this happens to be one of the times. We hope to be able to issue the usual 8 pages next week.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Cook desire to thank the many friends for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and subsequent death of the late Matthew Cook. It was greatly appreciated and will long be remembered by them.

PRESENTATION

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Williams entertained at their home in Lamerton, on Monday evening, Jan. 8th, the Yeomen of the Lamerton lodge, the occasion being the anniversary of Mr. Williams' birthday. The magnificent spread in the dining room called forth expressions of delight and much praise for the hostess. After the repast, a pleasant interruption in the festivities was caused by the presentation of an easy chair to Mr. Williams by the Yeomen lodge, accompanied with a few very fitting remarks from Mr. MacCormack. The recipient responded in appropriate terms and a happy spirit to the presentation.

entation. A most pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent, at the conclusion of which the guests took a reluctant departure in the very early hours of the morning. "May their shadows never grow less."

A PARTICIPANT.

OBITUARY.

MRS. W. J. PRINGLE

News of the death of Mrs. W. J. Pringle, wife of Mr. W. J. Pringle, locomotive foreman at Mirror, on Saturday, Jan. 6th, at Edmonton, was a sad surprise to many. She took sick on New Year's Day, and a few days later contracted a severe cold, which settled in the lungs. Three doctors and a nurse done everything possible to prolong life; heart failure being the cause of death. Her sorrowing husband and four young children are left to mourn a devoted wife and mother. The funeral took place on Monday, Jan. 8th, to the Edmonton cemetery. Much sympathy is expressed for the bereaved.

MATTHEW COOK

After a short illness Matthew Cook passed away last Sunday morning from his earthly home in Mirror to the House of many mansions, at the age of 77 years and 2 months. The deceased had not enjoyed very good health since the death of his wife last fall, and spent some time in Edmonton and Alton hospitals, and also took a trip to Vancouver in an endeavor to regain his usual health. About the first of the year pneumonia set in, resulting in his death a week later.

The late Mr. Cook was born at Silver Heights, Man., in 1834, and was married about 1860 to Matilda Mackenzie, a daughter of Captain Donald Mackenzie, who was in charge of a Hudson Bay Post in Manitoba. Five children were born to this union, four of whom are living: W. D., of Mirror; Mrs. Jas. Brindle, South Buffalo Lake; Owen D., and Geo. L., of Mirror.

The late Matthew Cook was one of the very old-timers, and during his lifetime travelled over the biggest part of the North-West, long before the railroads opened up the country to the pioneers. He started to work as a freighter between Winnipeg and St. Paul, Minn., in the year 1850, and made these trips until 1872, when freighting between Winnipeg and Edmonton began.

The old Red River carts were used for the carrying of goods and a whole season was occupied in making one trip. In 1870 he was called upon to act as interpreter to the R. N. W. M. P. This detachment left Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask., and marched to Fort Walsh, fifty miles east of Medicine Hat. The object of the expedition was to make a treaty with the Cree Indians, who were camping in the Cypress Hills, under the noted Indian chief, Big Bear.

A summer was spent in making the necessary terms. In the winter of 1881, the family moved to Medicine Hat, and remained until 1884; and from there to Red Deer, where they resided three years. During the rebellion in 1885 he acted as interpreter to Col. Strang in the country to the north of Edmonton, and was also a volunteer scout. For his services he received a grant of scout scrip.

After the rebellion he took up ranching at Rosbush, Alta., for several years, and in 1880 moved to this locality and made this his home up the time of his demise. The deceased had many varied and thrilling experiences in his travels and entertained his friends on numerous occasions with incidents that occurred while acting as freighter, buffalo hunter and scout.

He took an active part in the building of St. Monica's Church, Mirror, in 1893, and was a warden ever since its erection. He was also fish guardian on Buffalo Lake for over twenty years.

A short service was held at the home of W. D. Cook, and also at the church, the services being conducted by Rev. O. O. O'Leigh. The pall-bearers were G. B. Williams, Jas. Dunham, F. Tullock, T. Tate, R. Curry and W. V. Scott. Interment was made in St. Monica's Cemetery, beside the resting place of his late and much beloved partner in life.

The family have the sympathy of all in their bereavement.

YEOMEN ENTERTAIN

The members of the Lamerton Yeomen Lodge entertained their friends on Wednesday evening, Jan. 10th, to a supper and entertainment. The social was well attended and everybody had a fine time. After the supper the company indulged in cards and games. A slight load from Mirror included J. A. and Mrs. Johnson; J. F. and Mrs. Flowering; and Messrs. Duitman, Staples, Lyall and Roy, and this contingent were successful in winning quite a number of the prizes. They report having a very pleasant evening.

BASHAW BUDGET

The marriage of Mr. Luther Sharp and Miss Lyla Naslund, took place on Thursday. The happy pair left on their honeymoon attended by the good wishes of all.

The hardware store is very much improved in appearance by the addition of a plate glass front.

The New Year's masquerade ball was a great success, the attendance being very large. Besides the town and country folk quite a crowd came down from New Norway. The characters were varied, among the gay masqueraders being such costumes as fairies, witches, Swedish and Japanese maidens, clowns, jack-tars, baseball players, cow boys, cow girls, little Red Riding Hood, dancing girls and many others. Everyone enjoyed themselves immensely and the crowd did not disperse until the wee sma' hours of the morning.

The Williams' restaurant has been reopened by an enterprising Camrosian.

The Alhambra store is nearing completion and an up-to-date stock will be put in shortly.

Mr. Smith's term of teaching has expired, and Miss Moore is expected to take his place some time this week.

Wm. Scott left this week for Edmonton, where he will attend the Alberta College.

Theodore Bashaw returned to Alberta College after spending his Xmas holidays at his home here.

The Bashaw elevator is doing a rushing business.

Andrew Williams made a business trip to Stettler this week.

The Bashawites are a pretty healthy bunch, but still we are fortunate to have a doctor, in person of Dr. W. E. Fraser.

Mrs. Sharkey is spending a well-earned holiday in Stettler.

The Methodist church is nearly completed. Just another evidence of the marvelous growth of Bashaw.

Miss E. Bremer, who has been spending her holidays here, returned to Camrose, where she attends High School.

Miss Hannah Windsor, of the post office staff, is suffering from a severe cold.

Thos. Millar has purchased a building and lot on Main street.

The Bashaw autos are spending a holiday in the garages.

The Record staff have returned from their Xmas holidays.

There is going to be a leap year dance in the near future. O! Bashaw maid!

Don't be afraid!

To give a merry glance

And ask the boys to dance.

Bashaw is going to have sidewalks.

The lumber is here and in place.

Bashaw, Jan. 5th, 1912.

The marriage of Mr. Norman Holt to Miss Lollie Traylor daughter of Bennett and Mrs. Traylor, took place on Wednesday, Jan. 10th, at 12 o'clock. The newly wedded couple left on an extended honeymoon trip to Ontario and other Eastern points. Mr. and Mrs. Holt intend returning in the spring and settling in Bashaw. May their joys be many and sorrows few.

Clark & Holt will erect a fine new building here for their general store business.

E. J. Williams was a visitor in Camrose on Thursday, Jan. 11th, 1912.

NEW STAMPS ISSUED

This month the post office department has issued the first instalment of the King George postage stamps. In the beginning it is expected that only the more commonly used denominations (the one and two cents) will be ready for issue, but others will follow shortly.

The new stamps, which in color and design will be the same as those of the current series, have for their central feature a portrait of His Majesty in the uniform of an admiral typifying the sailor king. At the top and above the head of the king are found crowns, one on each side, emblematic of empire. The base of the design is formed of two supporting branches of maple leaves. The design which fully symbolizes the empire and the dominion has received the approval of the king himself, so that the new stamps in addition to the departmental authority have the privilege of the royal sanction.

HOMESTEADER 86 YEARS OLD

One of the most remarkable instances of the wonderful vitalizing influence of the Canadian climate and the possibilities afforded him, our western provinces to anyone willing to do a little work—not very much either—has just come to light. David Lane, who for a good many years had eked out a precarious existence as a laborer and gardener, in a small way, at Louisa, Nova Scotia, came out to Alberta as a homesteader at eighty-six years of age. The death of his wife a few years ago, left him alone and having a son out here he decided to try his fortune in the new country.

Although far beyond the age when most men have finished their duties, he was unwilling to be a burden to anyone, so he took up a quarter section of land and performed the necessary settlement duties all alone until he got a deed. He cleared and broke up a considerable acreage. One year he raised 600 bushels of grain and last year, though it was a very bad season, he had 1200 bushels of oats. A few months ago he sold his land; it was in the neighborhood of Lethbridge and brought a good price—more than he could have saved in all his life time.

Now, having accomplished something worth while in life, this sturdy homesteader at eighty-six years young, has returned to his eastern home, where he is well-known, and lives with a daughter in the full enjoyment of his well-earned little fortune. There he will probably end his days in comfort and happiness. Can you best it?

He liked the country out there in the west but the winters were sometimes a little cold for him. He is now ninety-two years of age; still active—and he says, if necessary, he could come out and make good another homesteader.

CARE FOR FARM MACHINERY

On many occasions The Commercial has made reference to the lack of care for farm machinery in the West. Valuable implements are in many cases left out all winter, causing great injury to them from exposure to the weather. While the winter is half over, it is not too late to advise farmers that it means the saving of money to give shelter to the machinery.

The retail merchant can do a great service to the farmers by cautioning them in this matter. Farm machinery is expensive anyway, and anything the farmer can do to reduce the expense is important. One authority says that if the average farmer were to be told that he was losing five hundred dollars a year through the simple neglect of something on the farm, he would be astonished to know it, and would want to know how and where the loss was coming from. The fact remains, however, that the average farmer is just losing five hundred dollars every year that he leaves his farm machinery out during the fall and winter months. A binder under ordinary conditions and with the proper care in housing, should last at least ten years. In some cases they have been known to last as long as fifteen years. So for the farmer that has to get a new binder every five or six years in these times it is quite easy to see that the profits accruing from the farms are going to dwindle away to a pretty small item, and ten to one that farmer will tell you there is no money in farming.

Every farmer, whether farming one hundred and sixty acres or one thousand acres should have sheds for his machinery. When through with an article of machinery in the summer or fall, he should do nothing else before he puts that article safely away in a good solid shed, free from the wind, sun and snow. In the case that his shed is too small to house all his machinery, then he should use a little discrimination in choosing the thing which can least stand the outside weather. First of course, to go in, should be the binder. Above all farm implements unfitted to stand the elements of the weather is the binder. The reel will be kept swinging to and fro every day by the winds. Besides getting broken and rotten it will become warped and it will lag from its proper position and every person who ever rode a binder knows the beauty of a good straight reel. Then there is the danger of having things taken off your binder if left outside—things that will hold you up in the field if you don't happen to notice it before you start out.

THAT TRYING TELEPHONE

Several evenings ago a young man required to a telephone office and rang up his sweet heart at her residence. "Is that you?" "Yes, Charlie dear," came the reply. "Are you alone?" "Yes, darling." "I wish I was there." "I wish so, too." "If I were there do you know what I would do with my darling?" "No, Charlie, I don't." And then somehow the lines got mixed, and this is what she heard: "Well, I'd pull her ears back till she opened her mouth, and then I'd put a lump of mud in it. If that didn't answer I'd give her a sound thrashing. And then Marion faints. Now they never speak as they pass by, and the man who was talking to his farrier about a balky mare says that anyone who would advise a man to put his arms around the neck of an obstreperous horse and whisper words of love in its ear ought to be hung to the nearest lamp post.

CHANGES IN GAME LAWS

Backed by petitions bearing hundreds of signatures from sportsmen in all parts of the province, a delegation attempted to interview Honorable Duncan Marshall, on Wednesday of last week, relative to having rather drastic revisions made in Alberta's present game laws. Unfortunately the Minister, through an oversight, failed to see the deputation, but the petitions were turned over to his consideration and will be dealt with by the department.

One of the most important changes asked for, is that which would impose a license of $1 on every resident who carried a gun, rifles for military purposes alone being excepted. Heretofore farmers have been exempt but the sportsmen are asking that each and all be made to pay. They, however, do not think that a man require a license for shooting on his own land.

To prevent the increasing number of accidents which arise out of young boys carrying 22 rifles, the petitioners ask that no license be issued to persons under sixteen years of age, except when the youth is under the care of parents or guardians.

It is further recommended that the open season for ducks and similar game be changed to take effect on September the 15th of each year and close January 1st. For prairie chicken, grouse, etc., they request that the season be altered to commence on September 15th and close on October 31st.

Perhaps the most important change suggested is that the present system of game guardians be abandoned except so far as the sale of licenses is concerned, and that paid men be put on to enforce the act. It is also asked that the sale of all game birds be prohibited in the province.
